

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Desired shape information is selected from a shape information template that holds the shape information corresponding to a plurality of shape information images, and in an encoder, the MPEG4 image encoding bit stream is generated, using the selected shape information and the texture image (original image, etc.) data.